TALK OF THE TOWN

New fur trimmings at Abbott's. Teddy bears at Martin's Book store.—adv.

Fancy white tablecloths. Little Dry Goods Store, Cottage street.

Officer David Henderson arrested an unknown drunk on North Main street this forenoon.

Everett P. Wood has returned to the city, after passing several days with relatives in Windsor.

A small deposit made on any article in our store at this time will keep it for you until Christmas. Bell & Houston.

E. J. Dole of Perry street, an instructor at Spaulding high school, has returned from Danville, where he was called by the death of his aunt.

Mrs. Edward G. Wells of East street left the city last evening for Denver, Colo., where she plans to pass the winter in the home of her daughter, Mrs. I. D. Parmeter.

Henry House of Williamstown came to Barre yesterday to visit his son, E. L. House of West street. Mr. House, who is nearing his 80th birthday, is improving in health after a long illness.

William Walker of upper Washington street, who has been confined to the house by rheumatic fever for the last six weeks, was able to resume his duties at 8 Merchant street this morning.

There will be a regular meeting of Minnehaha encampment, No. 2, Tuesday evening at 7:30; work in the Golden Rule and Royal Purple degrees. All patriarchs are urgently requested to be present.

Miss Norma Waite left yesterday for points in southern Maine, where she will visit friends and relatives until the first of next week. Miss Waite will return to Goddard during the latter part of the week.

George W. Sherwell of Laconia, N. H., arrived in the city yesterday, having been summoned here by the death of George P. Lund of Third street. Mrs. Sherwell was called to the city a fortnight ago when the condition of Mr. Lund, her foster father, became critical.

Wood dealers and others interested in making some money should plan to be present at the Little auction on Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock when about 90 acres of wood, tillage and pasture will be sold; also a few tons of pressed hay. D. A. Perry, auctioneer. See ad. on page 7.

Mrs. Annie Taylor of North Main street has purchased of E. E. Tanner of Marshfield, his farm located one mile from the village of Marshfield. The deal includes the stock and tools, and Mrs. Taylor, who has made her home in Barre many years, plans to occupy the farm in the near future.

Frank Pierce of St. Johnsbury, formerly of Swanton, was in the city yesterday conferring with Supt. A. A. Stebbins of the Barre & Chelsea railroad. Mr. Pierce, who is a telegraph operator, plans to take the day key at the M. & W. R. station in Montpelier to-morrow and will move his family to the capital.

Charles Wood of Kirk street is in Franklin, where he was called by the death of his sister, Miss Hattie Wood, who passed away Friday at the home of her sister, Mrs. C. Geno. Funeral services were held Sunday. George Wood of Richardson street, another brother of the deceased, also attended the funeral.

Changes at the Central Vermont station include the transfer of Peter Alexander, who has served as baggage master for several months, to the freight office, where he is to begin his duties Dec. 1. Patrick Hale of Hale street has been engaged to rustle baggage at the passenger station after Mr. Alexander's transfer becomes effective.

A. C. Carpenter, a well known Orange farmer, does not subscribe to the poetic assertion that late flowers blossom to waste their fragrance on the desert air. In a secluded nook near his home Sunday he picked a cowslip that yielded nothing to the early spring crop in its brilliance of colors. Apparently the little blossom had survived the driving snow of mid-November, although its petals had not been nipped by the frost.

Old timers had the cell room at police headquarters much to themselves last night. An itinerant umbrella mender, John Payne, was arrested for the second time within a few months. When arraigned before Magistrate H. W. Scott this forenoon, he pleaded guilty and was given a jail sentence when he failed to pay the $15 fine assessed him. Harry Clark, said to be a habitual opic courts, acknowledged a subsequent offense and went to jail. Clark hails from Albany, N. Y.

For the consideration of the city council at its regular meeting to-night, a rough draft of the franchise which the city may grant the Central Power Co. Inc. has been prepared. Several authorities have been consulted in preparing the document, but the legislative committee, which has been investigating the claims of a corporation that guarantees a material decrease in power rates, is not sure that the proposed franchise will be accepted without revisions. Among certain members of the city government, there is a feeling that the city should derive a small revenue from the operation of the franchise, although it is conceded that a tax on the company's poles should be imposed more for regulative purposes than as a source of revenue. It is expected that representatives of the corporation will be present at to-night's session to go over the tentative franchise, and as the corporation is not in a great hurry to receive its permit, action on the draft may be allowed to go by the board for the time being.

ADLER-ROCHESTER Clothes

COXEY'S Army lacked uniforms—and what might have been an historical pageant marched as a mob. Clothes count.

Take these men you see on the steps of the club, behind the wheels of their own motor cars, in the directors' chamber at the bank—they look as if they belonged there.

Adler-Rochester Clothes will give you that look—will reflect the success and position you aim for—wherever you wear them.

Your Thanksgiving Suit and Overcoat are here.
